NILS™ Matrices

Easily create and maintain compliance surveys and charts

Regulatory information in a flexible U.S.-jurisdictional chart format helps reduce the amount of time spent researching and maintaining requirements and improve compliance results.

Communicating regulatory information to those needing to know it is one of the greatest challenges insurers face in meeting compliance requirements. Creating, maintaining, and distributing summaries is a complex and time-consuming task.

Available on a wide variety of compliance topics, NILS Matrices summarize requirements on key regulatory issues in U.S.-jurisdictional charts. Easy to use and regularly updated, NILS Matrices offer an effective alternative to managing compliance in key operational areas by helping to lower research costs, streamline implementations, and increase overall levels of compliance.

Supported by our team of experts who understand the Insurance industry, these matrices provide regulatory intelligence and research unique and critical to the business of insurance, ensuring that users get the focused content they need for efficient research and effective compliance.

With our newly-released Complaint Handling Matrix and Certificate of Authority Renewal Matrix, NILS Matrices offers an even wider collection of easy-to-use reference resources on important insurance compliance topics.

Whether you are looking to buy them as part of one of our many topic-specific packages, or individually as a one-time addition to your compliance program, each Matrix is built to provide exceptional value at an industry-leading price.

- Automate monitoring of key regulatory issues and improve communication and implementation of requirements.
- Rely on expert analysis conducted by the leading provider of insurance compliance information in an easy-to-read matrix format.
- Dynamically link NILS Matrices content to existing in-house systems.
- Refer to statutory and regulatory references with hyperlinks to the statutory and regulatory content in NILS™ INsource®.
- Increase productivity and save valuable research time.
