TeamDocs

NEW

A new standard in document collaboration.

TeamDocs streamlines and accelerates collaborative document creation, editing and management. Manually comparing and correcting different document versions creates unnecessary work. With TeamDocs, you retain complete control, improve efficiency and ensure maximum reliability in document collaboration.

Optimise collaboration

Streamline document collaboration and review with intuitive software

Improve reliability

Eliminate the risks involved with the error-prone manual comparison of different versions

Save time

Avoid delays and easily comply with tight deadlines

Increase efficiency

Minimise all the labour-intensive aspects involved in manually comparing documents

Whether you're a lawyer in a law firm or legal department – working with documents is part of your day-to-day business. Comparing versions of contracts and other legal documents is a complex task, especially when multiple people making changes and comments. Manually comparing and correcting different document versions is tedious work, especially when it is unclear what changes were made by whom. In fact, working in this way is prone to bottlenecks and increases the risk of errors where losing track of the smallest change can have huge ramifications.

TeamDocs by Wolters Kluwer streamlines and accelerates collaborative document creation, editing and management. TeamDocs allows you to view the full history of changes made by multiple stakeholders in a structured way (without missing anything) and then accept or reject these edits before creating the next version of a document.

Available as an on-premise solution or via the cloud, TeamDocs helps you retain complete control, minimises errors and enables you to meet tight deadlines more easily.

Simplify and streamline document collaboration with software that flags every change for you. Trust in our extremely precise comparison technology – because even the smallest changes can have a big impact.
